
Gallery pictures

Posted by macs - 2010/01/24 18:34

Jsut started using Flickr Photo sharing site, and from that i should be able to post links to pictures from that in the this Forum.i could also post small picture that are no more that 150K in size and no greater than 800x600 res

And as we like sharing our and Posting picture i'll try it out until we get our Gallery up and running. here go's :dry:

I liked the greaser down the middle of the runway Mark :laugh:

Maybe we will have to get the linesman to white mark the centre line!

Could we make up a Club Flickr site (would it be possible ?) I don't want all my nerdy Aero shots on my Flickr page! It would be a good form of backup if our club site goes down again?

I think it is quite simple to set up a group site in Flickr it is just that I have not explored how the system works.

Ok I've setup a user group in Flickr.

Would be good to have some where to put our pictures til we have the gallery setup plus this could make a good place to back up picies.

Try and access the site and up load something.

Hi Mark,
You are not missing a lot by being in the states!
Very damp and wet over here and the field is like a bog.

Look at the previous posts we have now a Flickr site up and running so you could post from the states.

Wow, I imagine their model shops are an Aladdin's cave.
Thank god for Visa!

Enjoy the rest of your trip.
Richard.
